

Hepatitis Awareness Week Event

Monday 18th May 9.30am – 1.00pm

Level 2 Training Area,
Royal Australasian College of Surgeons
250 - 290 Spring Street, East Melbourne

Could we all be doing more to prevent hepatitis C?

Every year around 10,000 more Australians become infected with hepatitis C. This forum will bring together a range of experts to highlight the current challenges that face our prevention work and how every organisation and individual can contribute to prevent further hepatitis C infections.

Guest speakers include:

The Honorable Daniel Andrews MP

Victorian Minister for Health will launch Hepatitis Awareness Week and the Forum

Dr Jim Hyde

Director of Public Health, DHS

Assoc Prof Bebe Loff

*Head of the Human Rights and Bioethics Unit
Monash University*

The forum will also feature a cross sectoral panel of speakers to explore “have we got what it takes to prevent hep C in Victoria”?

This forum will include presentations, information sharing and problem solving. Following the forum, a set of best practice guidelines will be developed and distributed to assist and guide organisations with their hepatitis C prevention work.

This is a free forum
